

That look in your eyes
you seem so far away
I want you back, back with us
To take you away from the scary world where you are now Talking and laughing together again
I want to hear your happy voice when you get home your daily stories...
I wish I could return mad at you again for your messy room
But your room is so neat now
I miss the bickering with your sister It's so quiet, everyone is so quiet ... please, come back soon sweetheart, we miss you...
